I'm Creating a asp.net application in that i want to create a button on a parent page which will call the child page controller. The problem is i dont know the path of the child page and want to call it using url. Example: My Parentpage is Home.aspx. On click of Add row button this aspx file will call a controller called AddCustomer.aspx. Here how will i get the path of AddCustomer.aspx page in code behind in my parent page? And here how i want to call AddCustomer.aspx from parent page? I will pass a param to AddCustomer.aspx A: You can get the path to the parent page like this: var path = Server.MapPath("~/myfolder/file.aspx"); You can use the querystring to pass the parameter like this: path = @"~/myfolder/file.aspx?myparam=myvalue"; By Steve Kim Hall of Fame trainer Freddie Roach's training home gym in Los Angeles, CA, was jammed on Wednesday night.
