GameHouse Collection Full Version (150 Games). 1518. how to get 2014 xbox 360 gold.Q: how to use a stored procedure to write to a datatable and then return the datatable back to the client I need to write a stored procedure that will return a datatable to the client. I can use a standard datatable but I am having an issue returning the datatable back to the client (using an asp.net application) How can I do this? I have tried: create procedure [dbo].InsertExecutionLogs @dbExecutionID INT, @dbActivityID INT, @activityName nvarchar(255) as BEGIN SET NOCOUNT ON; DECLARE @Sql NVARCHAR(MAX); SELECT @Sql = 'SELECT * FROM dbo.vExecutionLogs' EXEC (@Sql) END A: You cannot create the output as a temp table and then return it. You can create a table with a column for datatype VarChar(Max) if this is sufficient. If not, you will have to do something like this: DECLARE @columns TABLE(ColName varchar(255), CType varchar(2)) DECLARE @sql NVARCHAR(max) DECLARE @cnt INT = 1 SELECT '[' + @cnt + ']' + (@cnt = @cnt + 1) + 'SELECT' + QUOTENAME(ColName) + 'FROM TableName' + QUOTENAME(@cnt - 1) + ';' FROM INFORMATION_SCHEMA.COLUMNS WHERE TABLE_SCHEMA = 'YourSchema' AND TABLE_NAME = 'YourTable' AND COLUMN_NAME != 'YourColumn' ORDER BY TABLE_NAME, COLUMN_NAME -- Where YourSchema and YourTable are the ones that are in your Db -- where YourColumn is the name of the column you need to return. PREPARE YourStoredProcedureCommand FROM @sql EXECUTE YourStoredProcedureCommand EXECUTE YourStoredProcedureCommand DE
