Has anyone noticed that words in the English language are not really even close to each other? They are not arranged according to their frequency of occurrence but only according to an alphabetical order which is totally arbitrary. Occurrence order isn't a reflection of usage since no dictionary prints the frequency of word use.

Word frequencies are estimated by comparing words with similar spelling and by estimating the entropy of the English language. You are allowed to choose from several different languages for counting words. The ones available are English, French, German, Italian, Portuguese and Spanish. WordCounter then shows how many words were found in each text on the left side of the screen. You can also add the text to a queue for later use. WordCounter does not install and it is a portable application. WordCounter is freeware but it's an ad supported program. The ad appears as a little bar at the right side of the words count in each text. License: WordCounter is released under a GPL version. StarWord StarWord is a Desktop program designed to remove useless words (expungement) from a text. StarWord is a freeware which is completely free of any ads, popups, tricks or other similar methods to collect data, sell information, manipulate the system or other undesired things. question. StarWord is a very powerful program. It can remove any word with no problem. It's main function is to find the non-sense words in order to replace it with a space. The program does that very well. For the common user, it would be easy to say it has been too good to be true. This is a tool that will take your speech at a word and removes any non-sense words like a second skin or

"I don't know." It is extremely useful as it takes no time to learn. You can remove any combination of the most common sort of non-sense words using one or a combination of the options like spell check, word speed, word count, lowercase and uppercase. You can also remove non-sense words by removing the non-sense words at the beginning or the end of the text. StarWord also allows you to delete any words in the middle of the text. In short, it lets you delete any word in the text, thus it's very simple to use. StarWord can also
